

information of said packet with a first search method to generate first search results;
and

second processing that searches the first search results of said first processing with a second search method that is different from said first search method.